Steve Meleleu, SMA Insurance Services, reviewed the various types of insurance a business should include in its insurance portfolio. These include: Worker's Compensation, Cyber Liability, General Liability, Commercial Vehicle, Business Property, Business Interruption, and Professional Liability. "Your business puts a roof over your house," said Steve, so make sure it is adequately protected. Steve's been in the insurance business for over 30 years. He is an Independent Agent, which permits him to utilize numerous carriers in order to locate the best coverage at the best price. "We work for you, not the insurance company," is his company motto.
